

News Story – International Rose Day

Today, in our room there is a nice, sweet smell. Children are wondering where this smell is coming from. It is the smell of roses. In Islam, roses are considered as a symbol of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) and the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) liked the scent of the roses and valued their beauty, which is associated with love.

Today is Rose Day, and we wanted to talk about the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) and his life. We started the activity by smelling the scent of rose water. Children tried to guess the smell, some of them said that it was the smell of a flower. They mentioned that the smell is nice. Also, we had a look at the book named 'my first book about the Prophet Muhammad' (PBUH). They showed great interest in this topic.

Later, we decided to make a plate full of roses to understand its beauty. Children enjoyed making the roses by rolling the paper, and we put them together, they looked amazing.
