

News Story - National Chocolate Day

To celebrate 'National Chocolate Day' the children enjoyed a lovely learning experience that combined outdoor fun, baking, and Islamic Values.

We started the day by talking to the children about what ingredients we may need to make chocolate crispy clusters. We began by taking a walk to the local shop to buy our ingredients. As we walked together we practiced listening, sharing, and looking after each other. We linked this back to kindness and good manners which are important teachings in Islam.

Whilst at the shop the children searched for chocolate, then as a group we all went to the cashier to pay for our items. The children got the opportunity to pay for the chocolate themselves. Once back at nursery the children shared their experience with the rest of their friends.

We then washed our hands and carried out our baking activity. We carefully measured and mixed the ingredients together. We all took turns to scoop the ingredients into a tray and then flattened it down to make a big crispy cluster.

We talked about being thankful to Allah for the food we eat and the importance of not wasting it and learning to say "Alhamdulillah" for our blessings. The children worked together and took turns, learning that Islam encourages co-operation, gratitude and caring for others in everything we do.
